

Santa Takes Time Out

More than a thousand of the city's children stormed a thriving Wall street citadel of commerce last Saturday when Santa Claus kept a rendezvous with youth. The genial Saint Nick will return tomorrow afternoon and every Saturday thereafter until Christmas. . . And you think it's fun for the children? You ought to see the grown folk.

21 Nations Open Eighth Pan-American Meeting

Delegates for Peace at Home, Against Foreign Aggression, but at Same Time Wish to Shun Isolation

Lima, Peru, Dec. 9 (AP)—United States delegates to the Eighth Pan-American Conference expressed belief today that President Roosevelt's continental defense plan would be adopted as a resolution but not incorporated in a pact.

The resolution, they said, would be a simple declaration of the existence of a growing threat to American peace from abroad, of the need for defense against outside aggression and the determination of each country to defend itself to the utmost if attacked.

Argentina's opposition to a formal pact was deemed sufficient to thwart such a project in the sessions, opening today.

21 Nations Gather
Lima, Peru, Dec. 9 (AP)—Twenty-one nations of the western hemisphere opened the eighth Pan-American conference today, to work for peace at home and against foreign aggression but without isolation from the rest of the world.

The momentous developments in Europe and Asia in the past few years, which have seen the rise of Nazism, the intensification of Fascism, and the Japanese incursion of China, made the conference one of the most important in Pan-American history.

The delegates gathered in the Peruvian House of Representatives for the inauguration of the conference had in mind economic and perhaps political steps against the authoritarian states.

But from the United States Secretary of State Cordell Hull, who headed his delegation, came the assurance the Americas did not seek to cut themselves from the rest of the world.

In a pre-conference radio address last night he declared that the Americas "do not seek regional isolation for economic problems" but that they "recognize the interdependence" of all nations and are eager to see their principles "adopted by all nations of the world."

Members of his delegation said the secretary meant not to turn a back on Europe and Asia but to turn and face it, with eyes aware. His assurances were seen as directed to Argentina, wishing to retain old world ties, and against some agitation that the United States direct all its foreign trade toward Latin America.

They said the Americas were determined "peace shall be maintained on the American continents," that any menace against peace was a "matter of concern to all" and that the conference would seek to increase the effectiveness of "measures adopted already to that end."

This brought from members of the United States delegation a prediction no such projects such as a new definition of the Monroe Doctrine would be advanced.

They felt also that President Roosevelt's continental defense plan would not go beyond a resolution declaring the need for such defense and the intention of the 21 republics to defend themselves from outside aggression.

They believed no formal de-

Snyder Re-Named Fish and Game Club President for 1939

Association Chooses Other Officers and Votes to Continue Pheasant Stocking; Game Movies Shown

Deputy City Clerk Nelson W. Snyder was re-elected president Thursday evening at the annual meeting of the Ulster County Fish and Game Protective Association at the Hotel Eichler on Railroad avenue.

Other officers, also re-elected, were: Vice-president, Arthur Frolich; secretary-treasurer, Miles Pollock; and field superintendent, Henry Swart. George H. Swart was elected trustee for three years in the place of Walter T. Elston.

About 60 members attended the annual meeting. Reports were made by the officers and showed that the association was in a thriving condition with a total membership of 635 for the year and a balance of $81.92 in the treasury with all bills paid.

Over $600 was paid out during the past year for the purchase and raising of pheasants which had been released in the county. The report of Field Superintendent Swart showed the largest number of legal or near legal size trout placed in the streams of any year.

President Snyder made an interesting report reviewing the activities of the association during 1938.

The association voted to continue its pheasant stocking plans on a par with that of the past year, and to take a certain number of eggs, furnished by the conservation department, which they will distribute to the members of the 4-H Club in their territory.

Several other matters pertaining to the welfare of the association were discussed and will be reported on at a later meeting.

Following the business meeting several reels of motion pictures taken in Alaska showing big game hunting with a bow and arrow were shown. Among the many interesting subjects shown in the film was the Valley of Ten Thousand Smokes.

Refreshments were served at the close and a social hour enjoyed.

Drug Firm Under Federal Guidance; Plight 'Fantastic'

McKesson & Robbins, Inc., Now to Be Reorganized; Tangled Affairs of Company to Be Scrutinized

New York, Dec. 9 (AP)—McKesson & Robbins, Inc., huge drug concern was under a federal court trusteeship today, after its affairs were described by a director as "so darned fantastic we still can't believe them."

Federal Judge Alfred C. Cox, acting on the company's own petition, appointed the trustees yesterday with the Securities and Exchange Commission as a party, to direct reorganization of the company.

At the same time, The New York Stock Exchange Committee on stock list released a transcript of testimony by two of the firm's directors, W. L. Cummings and J. F. Thompson, concerning the tangled affairs of the company.

In detail, they told of the operations of the company's crude drug department in which falsification of books, mismanagement and waste were charged in an equity receivership action brought in District Court at Hartford, Conn., last Tuesday and superseded by the Federal Court appointment yesterday.

Describing operations of the crude drug department, Cummings told the exchange committee, "it may be the whole thing is just a hollow balloon, just a shell. There may be nothing there. That is the worst of the picture. However, we have Mr. Dietrich's statement (George E. Dietrich, assistant treasurer) that the loss is in excess of $10,000,000."

He said there was "no involvement of any other part of the business."

Cummings said the crude drug department was under the exclusive control of the President of the company.

Four Members of First Farm Bureau Attend 25th Anniversary Banquet and Celebration

The annual banquet of the Ulster County Farm Bureau was combined with the celebration of the 25th anniversary of the organization which came into existence on December 19, 1913, at a meeting held at the court house. The banquet and birthday party was held in Epworth Hall on Clinton avenue with turkey and all the trimmings were served, followed with several brief addresses and an excellently arranged entertainment program. There was also a birthday cake with 25 lighted candles.

The surviving members of the first board of directors of the bureau were present as guests of the association. They were James O. Winston of Saugerties, J. A. Hepworth of Milton, both members of the board of directors,

France Would Fight to Defend Tunisia, Sources Say, as Rome Demonstrates; 'Open Door' Issue Looms More Vital

Return of Envoys Seen As Heralding Pressure

Washington, Dec. 9 (AP)—The homecoming of United States envoys to China and Great Britain occasioned speculation today over possible Anglo-American pressure against Japanese domination of the Orient.

Both the British and American governments have expressed concern over Tokyo's gestures toward closing the commercial "open door" in China, but so far there has been no joint action.

President Roosevelt and state department officials will canvass the entire Far Eastern situation when Ambassador Nelson T. Johnson arrives next month after an arduous trip from China. He has been ordered here for consultation.

Four Terms Ahead For Supreme Court In Ulster in 1939

Appellate Division Announces Terms to Be Presided Over by Justices Schirck, Foster, Bergan, Schenck

There will be four terms of supreme court in Ulster county in 1939, the terms to convene on the first Mondays of March, May, October and December. This year the October term was omitted because of the holding of the constitutional convention to which several justices were delegates.

The appellate division has named the terms and appointed the justices to hold each of the terms of court as follows:

March term Justice Schirck will preside. In May Justice Foster will be on the bench. Justice Bergan will preside at the October term and in December Justice Schenck is scheduled to hold his first term in Ulster county.

Justice Harry E. Schirck will preside at the April term in Albany county and at Part 1, in that county in June. His first term of the year will be the January term at Hudson. In May he will be at Catskill and will also preside at the October term at Monticello.

Special terms will be held in Kingston the first Friday of each month with Justice Bergan presiding at the January and February terms and Justice Schirck will hold the other special terms here. There will be no regular special terms in July and August.

Justice Schirck will hold regular special terms at Albany on the second Friday of January and the third Friday of August.

Naturalization terms of court will be held here by Justice Schirck the second Friday of May and the fourth Friday in September.

Order and general calendar terms of the Appellate Division will be held at Albany on the third Monday of January, second Monday of March, second Monday of May, fourth Monday of September and second Monday of November.

Compensation and Unemployment Insurance appeals calendar terms will be held at Albany on the second Monday of January, first Monday of March, first Monday of May, second Monday of September and fifth Monday of October.

In Ulster county there will be four terms of County Court. The first term for 1939 will be convened by Judge Traver on the second Monday of January with terms on the first Monday of April, first Monday of June and the second Monday of September. There will be a grand jury in attendance only at the September trial term.

Hoover at Capital

Washington, Dec. 9 (AP)—Herbert Hoover was back in Washington today—to attend a board meeting.

Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy, who will sail from London Saturday, will be on hand at the same time. Thus he will be able to take back to British officials the latest American views on Japanese economic and political expansion, based on Johnson's report.

Expects Statement
The state department expected to receive from Joseph Grew, American ambassador to Tokyo, a statement of Japan's views as outlined to him by Prime Minister Arita. Press dispatches said Arita told Grew and the British envoy that the "open door" principle might have to be revised.

Until officials here can study the prime minister's statement, the state department will not forward a reply to the Japanese note of November 18, rejecting its protest against "unwarranted interference" with American rights in China.

Tokyo a source close to the government, said today that Foreign Minister Hachiro Arita had informed the United States and Great Britain the principle of the "open door" in China had vanished.

The minister was said to have spoken fully and frankly yesterday to United States Ambassador Joseph C. Grew and British Ambassador Sir Robert Leslie Craigie, leaving no doubt as to Japan's position.

The informant said his conversation contained such phraseology as "henceforth, you will be permitted" and "you will not be permitted" referring to conditions under which foreign commerce may continue in China.

Two Great Principles
It was said Arita laid down two general principles showing Japan's line of policy. Specific questions will be determined according to the following principles:

The Chinese-Japanese conflict has changed the political situation in China and has virtually dismantled the nine power pact, which among other things provided equal opportunity for all powers.

Japan, Manchukuo and "new" China have become a new economic bloc, but they do not intend to exclude foreign trade.

Arita was reported to have said that under the former system China was virtually a foreign colony, little different from those in Africa, with various nations enjoying preferential treatment in their particular areas.

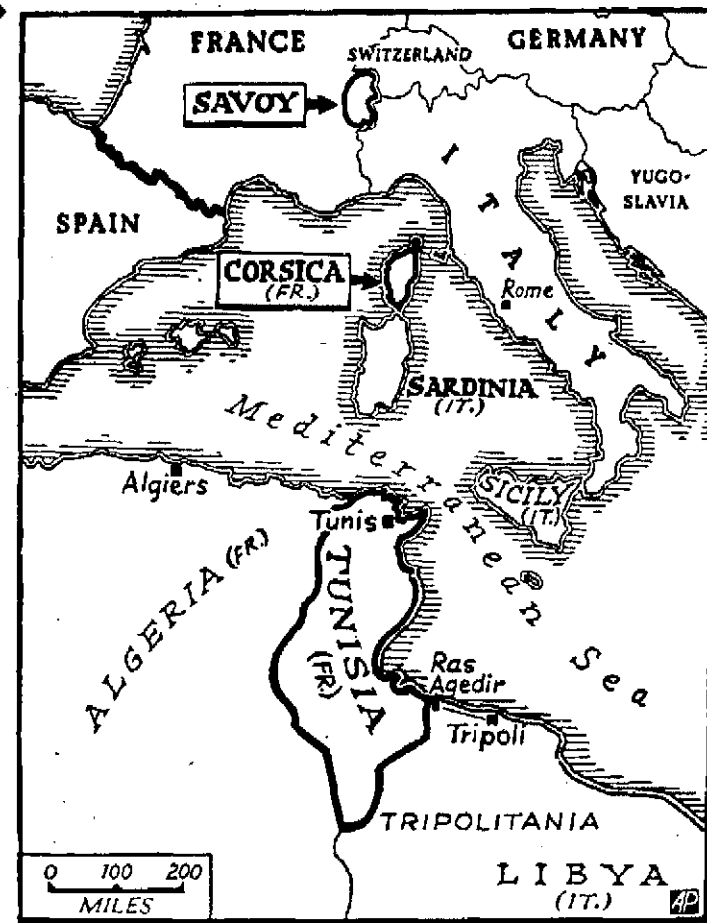

He said the new China would not be subjected to this "colonial" system, adding that the principle of "Asia for the Asiatics" was about to come into existence.

Japan, he stated, aims to liberate herself and China from dependency on foreign markets, foreign finance and foreign raw materials.

East Is West?

Greenfield, Mass., Dec. 9 (AP)—Frank Dembanski is in favor of that East is East, West is West remark. Frank's filling station is on the west side of the road and a district court judge ruled yesterday that, since a search warrant issued in seizing 15 gallons of whiskey, specified the east side of the road, Dembanski should have the whiskey back.

Manufacturers Stand Pledged to Cooperate

National Association Decides Upon Program Following Tense Struggle at Annual Meeting in New York City—Eden Is Expected

New York, Dec. 9 (AP)—The men who produce and distribute the nation's goods today stood committed to a 1939 program for industry based largely on a "cooperate-with-government" plan.

The group in the National Association of Manufacturers which favored cooperation with the government won its point only after a close-drawn, behind-the-scenes struggle at the association's annual meeting.

A routine adoption of the platform discounted predictions of some delegates that a floor fight would develop, particularly on the section which originally called for changes in the National Labor Relations Act. All such recommendations were eliminated in the platform approved.

The convention went into its last day with the nation's industrial giants awaiting the speech tonight of Anthony Eden, former British foreign secretary who is making his first appearance in the United States.

Storms at sea delayed the arrival of Eden and his party and the association made elaborate preparations to take the distinguished British visitor off the liner Aquitania at Quarantine early tonight and land him at the Battery, where a police escort will wait to hurry him to the Waldorf Astoria Hotel.

Reservations for the dinner at which Eden will speak have already overtaken the huge Grand Ballroom at the hotel. More than 400 were expected.

Meanwhile, the so-called government co-operationists counted a victory which included defeat for a proposal which would have put the association on record as condemning the administration's reciprocal trade agreement program. They also persuaded the powerful resolutions committee to amend a section of the platform which called for the abolition of special federal regulatory agencies.

The program called for cooperation of industry, commerce, agriculture and labor with government and conceded there had been mistakes on all sides and "we in industry admit our share of mistakes." The industrialists' statement of policy, while recognizing the need for continued unemployment relief, suggested a plan for the restoration to jobs of some 9,000,000 unemployed.

The program urged business to realize the human responsibilities, accept economic and social responsibilities, be frank with the public, maintain high standards of quality, lower prices as feasible, maintain sound employment relations and be a "desirable citizen of the community" in which they operate.

The program also recognized labor's right to bargain collectively through representatives of their own choosing and without intimidation from any sources.

Sources in Paris, However, Think Any Attack by Italy Against Tunisia Unlikely at Present

Students March

Students in Rome Move Toward French Embassy, but Are Held Back by Police

Paris, Dec. 9 (AP)—Sources close to Premier Daladier said today that France would fight, if necessary, to defend Tunisia.

The same sources said that Italy's military chances of attacking and seizing Tunisia from Libya or from the sea were "zero."

They viewed the Italian campaign for the French protectorate as simply a "propaganda advance guard" for other and more temperate demands concerning the rights of Italians living in Tunisia.

Reports that Italian troops were massing in insurgent Spain near the French frontier, however, were said to be receiving the closest attention of the war ministry.

The French view appeared to be that the troop movements in Spain were concerned only with a future insurgent offensive against Catalonia.

Takes No Chances

But France took no chances. French military sources said that if the reports were confirmed the defense ministry might increase Pyrenean fortifications and strengthen troops in that region.

These reports, received here yesterday from the border, said 40,000 Italian troops had been massed in northern Spain. A line of fortifications modeled after France's famed Maginot Line covers the flat approaches to Tunisia from the sea coast to the rise of the desert plateau. Beyond the "African Maginot Line" southern Tunisia's eastern frontier is well spotted with block houses, manned by some of France's finest native and continental troops. Almost all the senior officers are veterans of desert warfare in Morocco.

On the other hand, Italy's adjoining colony of Libya was said by French military experts to be particularly vulnerable from Tunisia.

A high source said every French military man, including Premier Daladier who long has been minister for national defense, believed that "until France is ready to surrender her African and eastern empire" Tunisia must remain French.

"That time has not yet come," this source said.

Complete Domination

Tunisia in Italian hands, he pointed out, would give Italy complete domination of the inner Mediterranean.

The French press, after its first flare-up over the demonstration in the Italian Chamber of Deputies November 30, apparently declined to take the Fascist campaign for Tunisia seriously.

Almost all the leading papers in France carried pictures of shouting and laughing students in the Latin quarter of Paris yesterday carrying banners reading "Venice must be French" and "Ethiopia for the Negus."

Rome Demonstrates

In Rome, demonstrations against France continued today, and diplomatic circles predicted they might lead to a formal Italian demand for "concessions" in French Tunisia.

Twelve hundred Rome students marched through the streets, cried for Premier Mussolini to appear on the Piazza Venezia balcony, and, when he did not, marched away in two columns shouting "forward Italy" and demands for French territories.

Several of the students were arrested for encounters with police who barred the streets to the French embassy. They were later released.

Four thousand students, of every age from the elementary schools to the university, went toward the French consulate at Naples, but the streets there likewise were blocked by police.

Rome newspapers called the situation in French Tunisia "ever more serious," said "dozens of Italians had been arrested" and asserted the native population kept aloof from the tumult.

There were demonstrations last night on the Italian mainland, the island of Sardinia, and in Tripoli, city of the Italian African possession, Libya.

Exactly what Italy wanted was obscure but foreigners thought it likely one objective was control over Tunisians of Italian blood, estimated at from 94,000 to 120,000.

Kerhonkson Man Held for Assault

Philip Thabit, of Kerhonkson, a member of the New York City Water Board police force, was arrested Tuesday afternoon on a warrant charging assault in the third degree, the complainant being Ray Vivien of Stone Ridge. Thabit pleaded not guilty to the charge and asked for an adjournment, when arraigned before Justice Louis D. Sahler of Stone Ridge. The judge adjourned the case to Saturday afternoon at 1 o'clock, Thabit furnishing $50 cash bail.

Vivien's story is that on Saturday night he and two other youths from Stone Ridge, Jasper Oakley and Edward Beatty, started to drive from Kerhonkson to New Paltz, going over the Minnewaska Trail. He told the justice that as they approached the top of the mountain, near a curve, they saw two cars parked along the road. They started to turn but slipped on the icy road and their car went into the ditch.

Vivien claims that a man came from one of the parked cars and after some conversation hit Oakley, who was out of his car, in the eye, then ordered the other two to get out of the car. Then, Vivien claims, the stranger hit him a blow that knocked him a considerable distance and when, after some time, he got up, struck him again. He claims also that the stranger kicked Beatty in the knee, after which the stranger drove off.

The matter was reported to Judge Sahler, who traced the license of the car and later Vivien swore out a warrant for Thabit's arrest, as the man alleged to have committed the assault.

Vivien is reported to have been badly injured and X-rays were being taken at the Benedictine Hospital today to discover whether or not there were fractures of the skull and jaw.

Should Vivien's injuries prove more serious than was at first supposed, the charge against Thabit may be changed to one of second degree assault.

Kerhonkson Union School Activities

Kerhonkson, Dec. 8.—Children, who cannot hear well are severely handicapped in school. It is impossible to detect defects unless an accurate check is made by means of some instrument as the audiometer. As a result of this test, treatment can be recommended and better school adjustment achieved. With these facts in mind, the Board of Education has made arrangements for tests to be administered to every boy and girl in Kerhonkson Union School. Health Education Director, John C. Braun, will be in charge of the project which is to get under way this week.

A special Christmas edition of the school newspaper, "The Flying Goose," is being prepared according to Ruth Foskitt and Winona Terwilliger, editors. Erna Simons and Matthew Rauch will contribute a series of Yuletide cartoons.

The faculty committee for the regular high school Christmas program has announced that they will present a series of tableaux depicting themes in conjunction with various carols to be sung by the Glee Club. Committee members are Bella A. Van Dyke, F. Gordon Sealey, S. Robert Kelder, and Fritz Ford.

Plans are under way to conduct inter-class basketball games at noon hour. This will give all pupils an opportunity to participate and will eliminate the necessity of having school buses wait. In the past, many pupils have found it difficult to take part in after school activities because of work to be done at home.

Now all eyes are turned towards Christmas. It won't be long now.

DRY BROOK

Dry Brook, Dec. 8.—Mr. and Mrs. Kingston Gould returned to their home in New York city Tuesday having spent the past week at their summer estate, "Furlough Lodge."

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Rosa and daughter, Dianne, of Margaretville, were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Grover Kittle Sunday.

Local hunters have been quite fortunate in bagging game so far during the season. Among the fortunate ones are Kenneth George, Ivan and Lester Rosa, Basil Van Kleeck and son George, Reginald Todd, Waldron Dumond, William Freivert and Cyrus "Bud" Todd.

Clifford Stewart and son, Cecil of Low Beach called at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Stewart, in this place Friday.

Two carloads of hunters, all from Binghamton, arrived early Sunday morning in time for breakfast at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Grover Kittle and spent the day deer-hunting in this section.

Milton Schwartz, of Norwich spent the week-end at the home of his brother-in-law, Ney Todd, in this place.

Arthur Hamilton spent a few days as a guest of his cousin, Kingston Gould at Furlough Lodge. He will be remembered by many residents of this place having spent much of his boyhood days at Hamilton Cottage.

Congratulations are being extended to Mr. and Mrs. Orson Haynes on the birth of a daughter on Wednesday, December 7 at the Margaretville Hospital. Mother and baby are doing nicely.

DEATH WAS THE ONLY BIDDER for this forlorn fellow—"a police dog around the cars, but I can't vouch for the rest," said the auctioneer—at a dog auction in Seattle. The county humane society held an auction for strays, and 70 some dogs were bid for, spiritedly, by youngsters and adults. The dogs that drew no bidding, like this one, were put to death humanely.

WHAT IS HOME WITHOUT A GARDEN?

Ideas For Christmas Decorations

Christmas Rose

By The Master Gardener

Although the Christmas rose in some localities bears its name in the colder sections it does not bloom at Christmas time—I feel sure you will all want to secure several plants of this little known and unusual flower. It blooms, according to locality, in December, January, February, or March, having large single white flowers, often flushed with rose, with prominent yellow stamens. The flowers have somewhat the appearance of an anemone, or a wild rose, and last for weeks. In the more rigorous climates, the Christmas rose may be had in flower at the holidays if grown in a frame and protected; in the open border it flowers usually in March, although blooms sometimes appear in late winter when the weather is mild.

This dwarf growing plant is very hardy and able to withstand temperatures many degrees below zero. The leaves are attractive, too. It attains a height of from 6 to 18 inches. It likes best a cool, moist, half-shaded spot, and rich soil. A fern bed is a very favorable situation for its growth.

It is best to purchase plants, although seeds may also be obtained and sown. Seedlings usually bloom a year from the spring in which they are sown. Plants may be set out either in spring or fall. When planted in late fall, much will be kept from heaving out before the roots are formed.

These plants are slow in getting a foothold and resent disturbance when once established, so select a site where they will not need to be disturbed for many years.

Few plants repay careful planting better than the Christmas rose. The soil should be dug deeply and well prepared, with plenty of humus and with a complete, balanced plant food mixed well with the soil. Roots must be in the ground for about a year before they will start to throw out new eyes, as the roots must be fully established before new growth begins above ground.

Where spring plantings are made, water well through the summer, for if the roots dry out, a year's growth will be lost and new roots will have to form before the plant can expand above ground.

In the fall give established plants a feeding of complete, balanced plant food. This will result in sturdy plants and a wealth of bloom.

There is also another type of helleborus known as the Lenten rose (helleborus orientalis) which blooms somewhat later than the Christmas rose. It may be had in a range of colors, although there are very few named varieties.

At this season, perhaps you will find the following legend of the Christmas rose interesting.

In the Alsatian mountains, where the Christmas rose is found in abundance (it is a native of Europe), it is said that this flower first came into bloom at the hour of the birth of the Christ Child and has ever after been known as the Christmas rose.

Colorful Berries

(By The Master Gardener)

Many of the native species of holly are becoming extinct in their wild state, in numerous sections of the country, due to the wide-spread use of this plant for Christmas decorations. Some states now have laws in effect forbidding its harvest.

Why not plan some plantings that will provide you with your own material for decorations at Christmas time? If your climate is not suitable for the culture of holly, plant some bittersweet, and an extra evergreen of some appropriate species in some out of the way corner, to provide for cutting greens to go with the colorful bittersweet berries. Many of the evergreens—the yews, the junipers, the spruces, and the pines—all are suitable.

Several plants are commonly called "Bittersweet" and I am describing below the three most often referred to:

Celastrus Scandens (American Bittersweet) is the plant most commonly meant in speaking of "Bittersweet." This has glassy leaves turning bright yellow in autumn. Brilliant fruit in large clusters of bright orange-colored pods which split open and disclose scarlet seeds make it an attractive and desirable addition to the landscape. It is a native American plant, a shrubby vine of twining habit that is useful for covering trellises, trees, rocks, slopes, and walls. It climbs to a height of over 10 feet and will grow in sun or shade. It is especially desirable for shady situations. Yellow flowers are borne in May and June, later developing into berries which stay on the plant all winter.

Sometimes single vines do not fruit satisfactorily, and best results from this standpoint are secured by planting several vines together.

Propagation care by cutting or layers, or by seed sown in the fall. Frequently old vines are difficult to manage because suckers are freely produced and the old strong roots very hard to grub out. Therefore, it is better to buy new young plants from nurseries than to attempt to transplant old plants. This vine may be planted either in spring or fall.

Puonyus Radicans Vegetus (Big Leaf Wintercreeper) is known as Evergreen Bittersweet. It is an evergreen, self-climbing, dense-growing vine with roundish leaves, and bright scarlet berries. It is excellent for low walls, banks and slopes, and is an excellent ground cover in sun or shade. It is particularly attractive as a ground cover among evergreens. It will thrive in any good soil if well watered. This plant is a native of North and Central Japan.

Celastrus Orientalis (Japanese Bittersweet or Oriental Bittersweet). This is less commonly planted than the vines mentioned above. It is a strong climbing shrub with glossy green foliage, and in autumn is covered with bright yellow fruit. It is considered very desirable and is a native of China and Japan.

Many More Names For Age Benefits

Washington, Dec. 9 (AP)—The social security advisory council will recommend to Congress and the President this week-end early extension of the federal old age insurance system to at least 2,600,000 more workers.

Probably they also will advocate beginning insurance payments January 1, 1940, instead of January 1, 1942.

These intentions were disclosed by informed persons today just before the council met to complete plans for revising the social security program along more liberal lines.

No recommendations for changing the insurance reserve system, target of much Republican criticism, were in prospect. Nor was there any likelihood that the recent months of political discussion of old age pensions would bring any official suggestion for upward revision of payments.

Thus the council's program is certain to be under heavy fire in Congress. Both Republicans and advocates of bigger pensions have served notice that they intend to put up a stiff struggle for their own ideas on providing for America's aged.

The council is expected to complete its work either Saturday or Sunday. After Congress meets in January Mr. Roosevelt may send up a message urging adoption of the recommendations.

Authorities say the council already has virtually agreed to blanket in about 2,600,000 persons employed by non-profit institutions, such as charitable and religious organizations, along with 300,000 seamen and 300,000 bank workers.

The council also may recommend eventual coverage of an estimated 6,000,000 farm laborers and domestic servants. Because of expected administrative difficulties, however, this proposal probably would not become effective until 1940 or 1941.

Bunn, 67, president of the Madison Club of New York and retired business man, died yesterday at Beth Israel Hospital where he was taken Tuesday as soon as he landed here in a plane in which he had been taken ill. He was flying north from Florida en route to New York to undergo an operation.

England in 1770 Barred

Cosmetics as Altar Lure
Ever since Uggies and his merry men managed to dodge entanglements with the notorious siren the arts of beauty have been the subject of masculine fear. Such fear reached an all-time high in Great Britain in 1770 when his majesty's august parliament attempted to deal with it—and pretty brutally, too, as tersis a writer in the Philadelphia Record.

Amazing as it may seem, the following act was actually passed in England:

"That all women of whatever age, rank, profession or degree, whether virgins, maids or widows, that shall from and after such act, impose upon, seduce and betray into matrimony any of His Majesty's subjects by the use of, paint, cosmetic washes, artificial teeth, false hair, Spanish wool, iron stays, hoops, high heeled shoes, bolstered hips, shall incur the penalty of the law in force against witchcraft and like misdemeanors and that the marriage, upon conviction, shall stand null and void."

A similar act was passed, about the same time, by the assembly of the province of Pennsylvania.

Probably the very absurdity of the act prevented its application, for there is no record of prosecutions under it. Perhaps, like many another ancient and forgotten law, it's still on the statute books.

Matchmaking in Ireland After-Harvest Business

In rural Ireland the matchmaker begins to get busy when the harvest has been gathered, and there is a lull in life on the farm.

It is his pleasing duty to bring eligible parties together or, to be more precise, to bring the parents of the "young" couple together for a preliminary discussion. In the early stages of the matchmaking the "boy" (often a bright spark of forty) and the "girl" occupy a comparatively unimportant position in the proceedings. This is just as well, for if the negotiations break down "sure there's no harm done," according to a correspondent in London Answers Magazine.

But if the principals agree that it is a good match, from a social and financial point of view, the happy pair are informed that the blessings of both families will be upon their union, and that since every precaution has been taken to make sure that they are well provided for, there is no reason why they should not be married at once!

Tidal Wave Defined

The United States weather bureau says: "The term 'tidal wave' is now generally applied to any unusually great and abnormal rise of the sea, particularly in coastal and harbor waters, regardless of the cause, and irrespective of whether or not it occurred in conjunction with, and thus accentuated, the astronomical high tide. Common special cases are the great sea waves that sometimes follow earthquakes and are technically known as seismic sea waves, and the great rises which are often produced by violent storms at sea or exceptionally strong winds along a coast, which are technically known as storm waves. While it may be correct to apply the term 'tidal wave' to these latter phenomena, they nevertheless have long been so called, and the above popular definition has come to be a well established and accepted meaning of the term even in scientific literature. It was officially adopted by an international scientific commission created in 1927 by the International Geodetic and Geophysical union, and known as the committee for the study of tidal waves."

Water Witching

Water witching is hunting for underground veins of water with a forked stick. City people may scoff at this method of locating well sites, but plenty of country dwellers will point out flowing wells which they say were dug where the forked stick dipped. The stick is usually from a hickory or other nut-bearing tree or a peach tree, and is held upright by the forked ends; the other end is supposed to dip until it points toward the ground at a spot directly above a vein of water. However, such behavior, according to those versed in this lore, is inspired not by all, only by certain persons, who are known as water witches.

Woman Tried for Witchcraft

The first woman to be tried in connection with the Salem, Mass., witchcraft cases was Sarah Good, who with an Indian or Negro servant, Tituba, and Sarah Osborne, was accused of witchcraft by a group of young girls who claimed they were tormented and injured. Sarah Good was executed July 19, 1692 and Sarah Osborne at a later date. Tituba, after being imprisoned for some time, was released as being under the domination of the other women.

Dueling Is Tolerated by Authorities in Paris

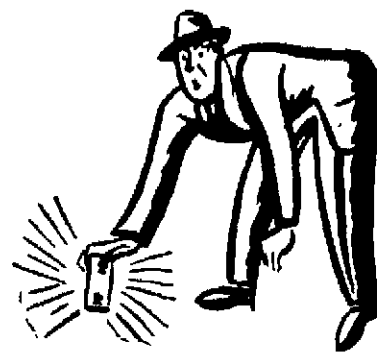

PARIS.—Dueling is a long way from being stamped out in France and even the police recognize that "tradition cannot be defied."

One of the Paris municipal councilors, disturbed at this practice which he said "evinced a decadent public," wrote the prefect of police. "It is very difficult for the police to prevent such encounters, since public opinion still accepts the duel as a means of settling certain differences," Prefect of Police Roger Langeron replied.

"When only slight wounds are inflicted the law generally refrains from judicial consequences. Finally, the tradition has been to allow regularly conducted duels to proceed."

A simple mistake in spelling landed a young Polish immigrant in Bronxville, N. Y., recently, in a building in Bronxville's 640 acres. Police authorities finally discovered a similarity in the spelling of Booneville and Bronxville. A telephone call to the State Police at Booneville brought the information that the youth's uncle had a large farm there and was awaiting his nephew's arrival.

"The New York State Unemployment Insurance Law is the most important piece of legislation enacted in this state since the passage of the Workmen's Compensation Act," declared K. A. Mr. Simpson, who is manager of the Kingston office of the New York State Employment Service, Division of Placement and Unemployment Insurance, explained that benefits under the Unemployment Insurance Law should not be confused with "relief," and that eligible unemployed persons are rightful beneficiaries under the law, irrespective of their financial status.

Farmer Will Stay When Others Fail, Kurd Tells Rotary

The efficient farmer is the man who is going to stay when the others go out, Farm Bureau Manager Albert Kurd, in effect, told members of the Kingston Rotary Club. He added that when that fact is recognized there will be less need of government help. Mr. Kurd was the speaker at the round-robin luncheon of the club at the Governor Clinton yesterday.

His talk reviewed briefly some general details regarding agriculture and allied interests in the county, modern practices, government subsidies, etc.

Mr. Kurd said that investment in land, tools, stock, etc., in Ulster county farms represented in the neighborhood of $50,000,000, from which there is an annual income of around $7,000,000. There are about 100,000 acres of crop land in the county, embraced in some 2,500 farms.

These farms are divided roughly into four groups, dairy farms, fruit farms, poultry farms, vegetable and other farms, with about an even division as to number in each class.

The Ulster County Farm Bureau, which aims to give general aid to all classes of farmers, has a membership of about 800, with little variation from year to year. The Bureau was organized in this county December 12, 1913, 25 years ago.

Discussing the early days of the Farm Bureau, Mr. Kurd referred to the many changes during the intervening years, in farm management and procedure. Thus fruit, which not so many years ago was shipped to New York by boat with some rail shipment, is now shipped largely by truck.

Another great change has been in the field of breeding, particularly in the dairy and poultry, as advantage is being taken of the scientific research work of the state college and others. This has resulted in increased milk production, cutting of losses in herd management, raising of disease-resistant hens. There is steady advancement in these lines, as knowledge increases as to just how tendencies are transmitted in the course of breeding.

The speaker told about the Agricultural Conservation program, although he said he was not going to say too much about what he thought of it. The members were told that there are 116 farmers participating in the program this year and about $50 would receive some payment for carrying out prescribed practices. Of the money to be received about 93 per cent would be reimbursement for following approved soil practices, the other seven per cent being for cutting down production. This latter is principally in the field of commercial wheat and potato growing and to qualify a grower must have at least half his acreage in vegetables.

A rather humorous condition arises, it appears as the result of government conservation practices, in that as a result of carrying out prescribed soil improvement policies the increased production more than offsets the reduction in acreage. Thus, the speaker told of one farmer who had never cut more than four loads of hay from a certain acreage, after carrying out scientific soil improvement practice for a couple of years cut 14 loads of hay from the same land.

The government program is very similar to that advocated by the Farm Bureau as general practice. The $50 farmers in the county who will participate in the government disbursement will receive some $70,000 for carrying out practices which will build up and maintain the fertility of their land.

At the business session of the club President Pemberton reported ed on the area meeting held in Poughkeepsie a week ago. He said that the program of the Kingston club was the high spot of the evening and that the address by "Ned" Brown of the Kingston club was the high spot of the entire gathering.

Sympathy of the club was extended to Gus Modjeska on the death of his father.

Ulster Volunteers Meet Here Dec. 20

The Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association will meet in Kingston Tuesday evening, December 20, as the guests of the Kingston Veteran Volunteer Firemen's Association. At the close of the business session the meeting will adjourn to the Central Fire Station where refreshments and entertainment will be furnished the volunteer firemen and guests.

America Looks South

U. S. Seeks Strong Cultural and Military Ties To Offset Nazi Expansion in South America

By MORGAN M. BEATTY
AP Feature Service Writer
Washington—A Pan-American axis of commerce and culture is in the making.

Delegates from 21 nations, representing more than a quarter of a billion people, are forging the framework at the Pan American conference opening at Lima, Peru, today. How strong the framework will be remains to be seen. But aside from promoting the Pan-American highway and providing for exchanges of professors and students, delegates hope to promote the general understanding of the masses on the sister continents.

Speaking generally (because there have been warnings that Argentina for one will burn up European bridges) their aim is American solidarity. Their work is a part of America's answer to the totalitarianism of Hitler, Germany and propaganda in the last few years.

The rest of the answer is the exchange of military and naval missions among the powers of the two continents, and Uncle Sam's most ambitious peace-time military and naval program.

After the old world's Munich conference remade the map of Europe, President Roosevelt foisted hope for military strength to make Uncle Sam the actual as well as theoretical guardian of the new world. Previously, he had assured Canada that the United States would not stand idly by if Canada should be attacked.

This program and these sentiments, it should be noted, have not won universal approval. In the United States certain peace advocates and others have denounced them as excuses for building up armaments beyond reason. In South America warnings still are printed against the designs of the Yankees.

Commissions at Work
But American naval and military men are talking about a Pan-American front against Nazi and Fascist activities in South America. The United States is about to send a naval and military mission to Colombia, whose boundaries are close to our vital Panama Canal.

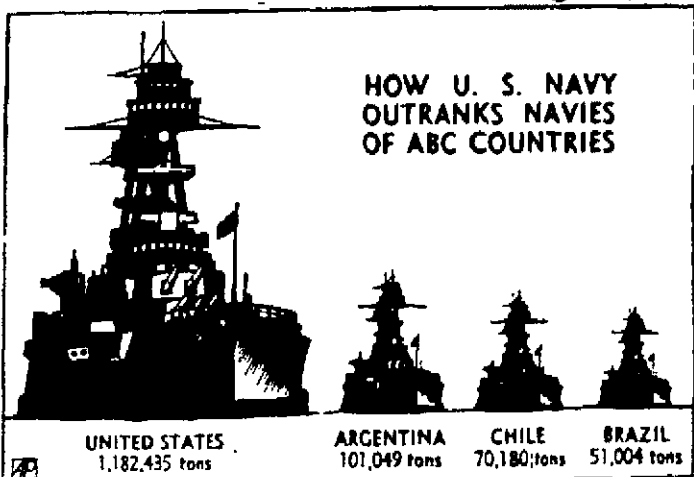

Chart shows that any job of defending western hemisphere would fall largely upon United States. ABC countries are South America's strongest.

Already we have a naval mission of eight officers and a military mission of four in Brazil, four naval advisers and eight army men in Argentina; four naval experts in Peru; two army men in Haiti, and one in Guatemala.

And Assistant Secretary of State Sumner Welles has just hinted we may expand such groups in South America. He didn't say what these missions would do, but generally it is assumed they would try to integrate the military defense systems of various South American nations so as to make them complementary to our own in the event of a common war.

In addition, the United States-owned Pan-American and Grace passenger and mail air lines crisscross the whole South American continent—nearly 22,000 miles of well equipped airways that could be transformed into a continental defense system.

Powerful Naval Strength
Most important, a total of more than a million and a half tons of naval armaments—the combined fleets of the United States and her southern neighbors—is available for common continental defense. That's more tonnage than England boasts, and 1,000,000 tons of it is Uncle Sam's own.

Also, under a program recommended to President Roosevelt, trolled factory of Caproni airplanes in the vicinity of Lima, Peru.

"Officers of the Italian Orva (Italian secret police) are instructing Peruvian police forces. . . . There are Nazi maps of 'antarticle Germany' including parts of Argentina, Brazil and Uruguay. . . .

"Nazi Germany is giving away hundreds of radio sets in Latin America which can receive only news from Germany. . . .

Whether or not this information is accurate much of it must have reached Uncle Sam's political and military leaders, for they are boosting estimates of our required regular army strength from 169,000 to 400,000 men.

Need Panama Defense

Secretary of War Harry Woodring has just reported in effect that the Panama Canal defenses are vulnerable, especially from the air, and must be made impregnable.

Such sign posts mean the struggle for influence in South America is on.

That struggle involves a great continent and 130,000,000 people. South America resources rank below only those of the United States, Russia, and possibly China. But Latin America is potentially rich. The world gets most of its coffee from Brazil and Colombia, most of its sugar from Cuba. Argentina is the No. 1 exporter of corn and meat. Mexico is tops in silver production, and Chile ranks second only to the United States in copper output.

Much in Common

Latin American nations have much in common with Uncle Sam. Many of them honor our system of democracy, even though they don't always practice it. Our unselfishness attract their industrially-conscious citizens.

In addition to our more than a half-billion-dollar yearly trade stake in Latin America, we also have close to $5,000,000,000 invested there directly and through bond holdings—greater than our investments elsewhere on the globe. Uncle Sam's eyes are truly turned toward the south. And it's in the south, at Lima, Peru, that the Pan-American conference opens today.

The United States would spend close to $1,000,000 next year on 74 projects to tie the Americas closer together. Educational, scientific and road building work would be included.

Why all this activity?

There are indications that Italy, Japan, and especially Germany are making or trying to make highways in Latin America. That, to the "America for Americans" advocates, seems like excuse enough.

Germany operates nearly 4,000 miles of commercial airlines among Latin American capitals, and runs regular airmail service between Europe and South America. Those air lines could be converted to military use in time of need. Aside from the United States, France, with about 3,000 miles of air lines, is the only other air power on the scene in Latin America.

Active Nazi Work Reported

Some writers insist that the Nazis are financing "shirt" societies all over both continents, and with the Japanese, buying vital oil at bargain prices from Mexico.

"In Essen, Germany," says Dr. David Efron, a New York college professor from Argentina, "there exists a special Nazi organization devoted to clandestine traffic in armaments in Latin America. . . . There is an Italian Fascist-con-

New York's oldest tree, a great tulip in Inwood Hill park, is now only a four-foot stump surrounded by an iron fence. More than 80 feet tall, its trunk had a diameter of 51 inches, which caused its age to be estimated at more than two and a half centuries though the linden-dron tulipera usually does not live more than 100 years. The Inwood Hill specimen, however, flourished until about 25 years ago when decay attacked it. For years tree surgeons labored to preserve it with all the skill at their command. Dead branches were lopped off and trunk hollows filled with cement. Despite all the surgery and nursing, the tree continued to decline. A year ago last spring only two branches showed signs of life and their buds apparently consumed all the life-giving sap. Recently park department employees attacked the lifeless giant with saws and axes because it had become a menace to safety of park visitors.

The old tulip tree linked the metropolis of today with the Indians. On the authority of Reginald Pelham Bolton, who wrote the history of the Inwood section, the tree once stood in the center of an Indian village in the center of a glen. As proof he cites that it had "grown through a compact deposit of oyster shells and carbonized materials which were accumulated by the aborigines who occupied this place until about 200 years ago."

Inwood Hill park is situated at the extreme upper end of Manhattan island. It has an area of 267 acres and up until a short time ago, was in a comparatively unimproved state. Even before its improvement, it was hard to think of Indians living on an island with a present population of almost 2,000,000.

Legends there are, of course, connected with the old tulip tree. One is that when Hendrick Hudson sailed his Half Moon up the river that now bears his name, he stopped at Inwood Point and pow-wowed with the Indians under the tulip tree which then was not old but young and vigorous. The legend further states that when Hudson left, he took two Indians with him. Fellow tribesmen pursued the Half Moon down the river and at what is now Fort Washington Point attacked. Hudson dispersed them with a cannon shot. And thus the first firing of a cannon in the New World.

Getting back to modern times, there were those clubmen who got a little exhilarated and decided to go fishing on Riverside drive. Not in the Hudson but on the drive itself. Instead of a boat they used a taxicab. But their equipment was real deep sea rods. The lure was pork and lamb chops. Their quarry was Pikes and Poms and they had several promising bites. They might have made some catches but a traffic cop took a hand in the matter. Facing arrest on charges of disorderly conduct, etc., they reluctantly gave up the expedition and returned to headquarters.

Speaking of clubs, there is one where no matter who calls, the member is never present. He may be right in plain sight of the mental who answers the phone but still the reply is, "Sorry, but he isn't in." Thus protection. But recently a member on his return home, informed his wife that he had spent the evening at that club. His statement caused no end of trouble. The wife had telephoned to the club and had been given the usual answer. Now there is an exception to the rule. No matter who calls, he's among those present.

Subway eavesdropping: "Say, list'n, buddy. You're pullin a boner if you take that dame out. She won't be satisfied with less'n a 50-cent movie."

OGDEN, UTAH.—Edwin A. Bingham, 74-year-old farmer, father of 17 children, is the winner of a "Father's baby derby" conducted here under auspices of the Ogden chamber of commerce.

He has 13 girls and four sons. Bingham won the baby sweepstakes over 38 other fathers who averaged 12 children each.

His oldest son is 51, and his youngest daughter 8. Bingham, who won a $50 clothing order in taking the baby derby, smiles widely when asked if he believes large families are wise investments.

Bomb Kills Girl

Zagreb, Yugoslavia, Dec. 9 (AP)—The explosion of an internal machine in Croatian headquarters of the Fascist "Zbor" party today fatally injured a 14-year-old girl and caused extensive damage to the party offices. A few wild shots were fired here last night at a campaign meeting.

Hollywood

Sights And Sounds

By Robin Coates

HOLLYWOOD—You can't just get up from your seat in an executive office in Hollywood and start making a movie, even if you've got a script and cast and director and sets all ready. You've got to see about the "little things" first—the thousand-and-one items you might suppose don't matter.

Look at "Cafe Society" today. They can't start working on the script until they've bought the title from the elegant Lucius Beebe of New York.

They couldn't have Madeleine Carroll and Fred MacMurray meet on the Queen Mary until the entire script was submitted to the owners of the boat. They couldn't mention Helen Hayes in "Victoria Regina" until they had "released" her from the star and producer of that stage hit.

They couldn't refer by name to one of New York's exclusive apartment hotels, though they got permission to photograph it—under another name.

Every picture tries to use false telephone numbers when characters are seen telephoning. Often the number used is that of the studio film exchange in the city depicted; sometimes it's a test number; frequently it's a number leased for a long period by the studio so that no private subscriber may have it.

In movie street scenes, where there are commercial signs visible over stores and shops, the signs use names that are real—and belong definitely to some member of the crew making the movie. More than one assistant director or prop-man has seen his name prominently on the screen—as a maker of fine wines, cigars, shoes or cosmetics.

"HOTEL IMPERIAL," Paramount's jinx picture, is being shot on Stage 13. Ray Milland, the co-star with Lea Miranda, is looking on the film as a lucky break and no jinx. Milland, sadly in need of "mussing up" such as Robert Taylor, Richard Greene and other young handsomes have received in recent films, is getting his. There are whole sequences in which he flounders in mud which makes him thoroughly unpretty.

And for the first time on any screen he gets a horseman's role. A poor airman, he has been featured prominently in flying parts. An excellent horseman—formerly of the British royal household cavalry—he has been neglected when the boot-and-saddle parts were handed out.

ANN HARDING, if she wants to come back to the screen, ought to read the fine new California novel, "East of the Giants," and do something about it. The heroine might have been created with Harding in mind... and this girl is no noble, self-obliterating female, but an upstanding lass and a fighting fool.

Man About Manhattan

NEW YORK—You'll recall, of course, the story about the vaudeville hoover with the trained seal who was out of work so long that when he finally did get a job the seal had forgotten how to swim—and drowned.

Now comes Al Jolson with this anecdote of the prizefight manager he met the other night.

"How's tricks?" enthused Jolson, shaking hands, "how's the fight game treating you these days?"

"Business is so bad," wailed the guy, "that when my man is taking a terrific beating I have to throw in a PAPER TOWEL!"

TOSCANNINI is noted for his fits of temper, but there are moments when he gives voice to utterances that would do credit to a diplomat.

There is the case of Emanuel Feuerman, the 'cellist, who gave a concert at Zurich one night—and regretted it for 12 years. Just before he went on a confere whispered that Tossicanni was in the house, and this intelligence so disturbed the 'cellist that he gave a very shoddy performance.

Recently they met in New York and Emanuel asked Tossicanni: "Do you remember that terrible exhibition I gave in Zurich? I played badly that night."

"No," replied Tossicanni, "I have heard you on the air and admired you, but I never heard you play in concert."

"Whereupon the 'cellist described the occasion and insisted on refreshing the maestro's memory."

"Then Tossicanni interrupted: 'I still say I have never heard you play in concert. I remember hearing a very bad 'cellist in Zurich 12 years ago, but I never heard you play.'"

JIM MORAN, the super-salesman who went to Alaska and sold refrigerators to the Eskimos, is in New York and plans to remain here for a few days. But he didn't unfurl any new and startling ideas to the boys at luncheon.

At that, he doesn't need any new ideas at the present, for his laurels gained in the North and in Hollywood are still green enough. Having disposed of those refrigerators, Mr. Moran then captured a herd of Arctic fleas and sold them to Hollywood—claiming that fleas used to glacial light could work under klieg lights better than domestic fleas. Hollywood paid him $750 for his polar fleas.

I love to think of Christmas, the mistletoe and holly; The shopping crowds and drifted snow and gifts—all seem so jolly. I love to think of Christmas, that time of joy and laughter. But what makes me weak is to think of the bills that follow after.

Woman—Last week my husband went rabbit hunting, and we've since put up enough meat to last us a year.

Neighbor—He must be a crack-crack shot—getting all those rabbits.

Woman—Oh, hubby didn't shoot any rabbits. He hit a cow.

When you don't get what you want, just think of the things you don't get that you don't want.

Uncle—Well, Dick, my boy, my congratulations! I bear you are engaged to one of the pretty Bobbins twins.

Dick (heartily)—Rather.

Uncle—But, how in the world do you manage to tell them apart?

Dick—Oh, I don't try.

If you want to keep on good terms with a hen, don't trample on her chickens.

Marie—Are they in love?

Mazie—They must be. She listens to him describe a ball game and he listens to her telling how her cousin's new dress was made.

And this one was clipped from the Altoona, Pa. Tribune: "Loating is a hard job. It takes so long to get enough of it done."

Customer—I want a ton of coal.

Dealer—What size.

Customer—A 2,000-pound ton, if it's not asking too much.

Read it or not—Andrew Carnegie, the financier, had himself aroused each morning by the playing of bagpipes.

She—I warn you, I'm necking against the doctor's orders.

He—Gosh, are you sick?

She—No, but the doctor is my husband.

A teacher asked her pupils if she knew who the Quakers were.

"People who live near an active volcano, miss," called out a little boy promptly.

Adolph—That Joseph called me a bare-faced scoundrel.

Hermann—Well, probably he forgot about your moustache.

Everyone is of some use, even if nothing more than serving as a horrible example.

Zoe—Jimmie Skidmore says he thinks I'm the nicest girl in town. Shall I ask him to call?

Wanda—No dear, let him keep on thinking so.

There are times when you thoroughly appreciate sympathy, but there's no time when you are not entitled to justice.

A city chap was crossing a pasture.

City Chap (shouting to a farmer)—Say, there, is this bull safe?

Farmer—Well, I reckon he's a lot safer than you are just now.

Corns are nearly as bad:

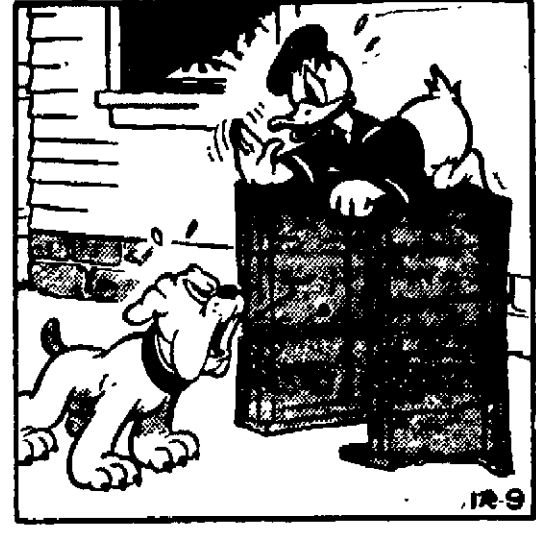

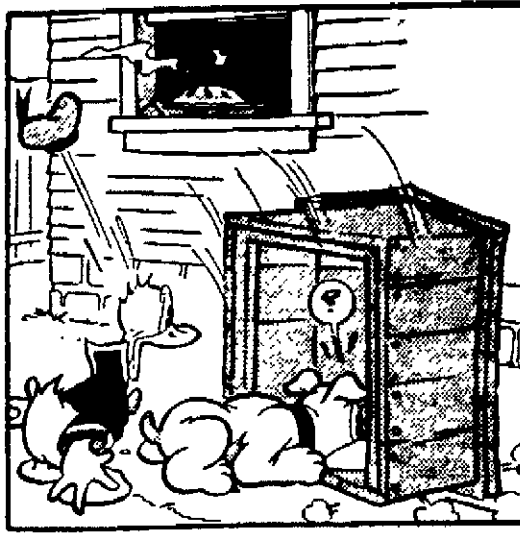

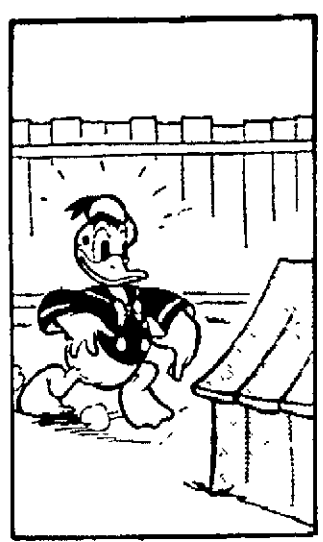

Wife—What's wrong, Henry?

Henry (booming loudly from the bathroom)—My razor! It doesn't cut at all!

Wife—Don't be silly. Your beard can't be tougher than linoleum.

$5 SAYS Q-LOID HELPS YOU

If You Suffer Pains Caused by RHEUMATISM

If you could find a way to rid your system of the pain torturing, nerve-racking discomfort of rheumatism, you would gladly pay $5, wouldn't you? Well, we not only believe that Q-Loid will do just that, but we'll back our confidence by paying you back $5 unless it gives you more relief than anything else you have ever tried. For, in many cases of rheumatism, there is often a deficiency of sulphur in the system. For such condition, Q-LOID is being widely praised for its excellent results. Included in its formula is a world-famous pain-reliever plus sulphur in 2 forms. One of these is a wonderful colloidal sulphur which is absorbed faster than ordinary sulphur. Q-LOID is a very expensive medicine, but considering results experienced, the $5 it costs for a full 30-day supply is only about 5c per dose, and it is sold with a strict money-back understanding. Holcomb Outlines Popular Fallacy On TB Campaign

A tradition that mountain air is a cure for tuberculosis is keeping the non-resident death rate as high as the resident death rate from tuberculosis in Ulster county, Dr. Frederic Holcomb told members of the Kiwanis Club at the noon meeting Thursday. This fact is also true of several of the mountain counties of the eastern part of New York state because people from the metropolitan center "filter" and become residents of the county when they learn they are a victim of the disease.

In order that the five counties of Ulster, Greene, Orange, Sullivan and Delaware do not become swamped with county charge patients, it requires a residence of five years in these counties before a person may become a county charge if suffering from tuberculosis.

Dr. Holcomb in his talk told of the effective methods which are being carried out at the Ulster County Tuberculosis Hospital and said he felt that the expenditure of the $50,000 made annually for its support was a well worth while expenditure when it was considered that at least 75 persons lives were saved last year by timely treatment. In addition he pointed out that hundreds of home cases were investigated and checked to prevent further spread of the disease. Tuberculosis frequently strikes back in homes where the parents, even grandparents have suffered from the disease and attacks back at the second and third generation from contacts made by the children with someone in the home who suffered from tuberculosis.

Ulster county is still faced with tuberculosis of the younger generation in many homes where the infection came from fathers or grandfathers who were employed in Ulster's once gigantic business of stone-cutting. Many of these men, now past three score and ten, are suffering from the disease and may be infecting the third generation. One of the duties of the local tuberculosis committee is to check in these homes and keep in contact with the younger generation so as to locate and check

Officials Snapped at School Inspection

Freeman Photo

The Myron J. Michael School was host, Saturday and Sunday, to approximately 4,000 interested citizens who inspected the latest addition to Kingston's school system. Saturday evening an official tour was made by the Board of Education and the contractors. In the above photo the party stopped to watch the unique method in which the chairs in the auditorium are put in racks and then concealed under the stage. Left to right, are Edward Bingel, electrical contractor from Cairo; Myron Teller, architect; E. C. Van Ingen, superintendent of schools; Donald Lane, member of the Board of Education; Edward H. Rommeit, member of the Board of Education; City Engineer James Norton; Fred Walter and Dr. Arthur Cragin, members of the Board of Education; Alderman-at-Large John Schwenk; Mayor C. J. Heiselman; Charles Katz and Bernard Feeney, members of the board; Hugh McCullough, clerk of works for the Board of Education; Harry Halverson, architect; Edward Bingel, Jr., of Cairo and Alfred Schundt, president of the Board of Education.

any further spread of the disease.

In his talk Dr. Holcomb reviewed the work of the local Tuberculosis Hospital and told of cures which have been made. He spoke of the gratitude of those who have been patients at the hospital and later discharged to become healthy, useful citizens. From his annual report which was published following its submission to the board of supervisors he cited many interesting facts.

Dr. Holcomb as well as Miss Katherine M. Murphy, copy nurse and secretary of the Ulster County Committee on Tuberculosis, were presented to Kiwanis by Judge Joseph M. Fowler, who for 30 years has been president of the county committee, and with Mrs. Clara Norton Reed was one of the original organizers of the work of tuberculosis prevention in Ulster county.

Miss Murphy told of the work being carried on and explained the relation of the Ulster County Committee on Tuberculosis with the County Hospital, the Red Cross Chapter and the sale of Christmas Seals. These items are frequently confused by many, she said. Shortly after the seal sale for prevention of tuberculosis was thought out by a Danish postmaster in 1907, it was adopted in this country and in 1908 Mrs. Reed and her mother organized the first sale of Christmas seals under the Red Cross by formation of a local chapter which permitted the sale under the Red Cross auspices. Out of this came the tuberculosis hospital on Clinton avenue, later to be succeeded by the present plant on Golden Hill. In 1919 the plan had advanced to such an extent, she said, that a National Tuberculosis Association was formed and the Christmas seal sale was transferred to that organization. The Red Cross now is primarily interested in relief throughout the world in times of distress or disaster and the seal sale is for prevention of tuberculosis work and similar work.

Judge Fowler was named president of the Ulster County Committee, and has served as such for 30 years. With others the work is carried on and from the sale of the Christmas seals the National Association gets five cents out of each seal, the State Association gets 12 cents and the balance is retained here. Out of this money each year 96 children are cared for at Camp Happyland where health habits are taught for two months. Proper food is supplied and the children who are undernourished and fit subjects for the attack of tuberculosis are given a start in life. In addition the County Nurse is maintained through seal sales. Her duty is to check on families throughout the county where tuberculosis may be suspected and to work in close connection with the Ulster County Tuberculosis Hospital. The campaign against social diseases is also a part of the work done through the sale of seals.

The Rev. Arthur G. Carroll at the close of the talks by Dr. Holcomb, Judge Fowler and Miss Murphy spoke in very complimentary terms of the work of the committee and the county hospital.

Christmas Seal sales and the musical program under the direction of Harold Clayton, song leader, with Dan Blitner at the piano both had a tinge of the holiday season, Mr. Clayton bringing the meeting to a close with "Jingle Bells."

A sons and daughters party will be held by Kiwanis on Thursday, December 29, when Kiwanians may bring their sons or daughters home from school, or some other student. This is an annual affair. On the committee for the party is Howard St. John, Dick Shultz and Jansen Fowler.

Visitors were Joe E. Hasbrouck of Modena, who was a guest of William P. Glass, and Kiwanian Kilmer of Troy.

President Zucca called attention to the ruling of the state and national committee of Kiwanis which forbade Kiwanis to enter a team in any financial drive, it being against the policy of the club. Kiwanis members may aid in such drives, he said, but no team should be entered under the auspices of or under the name of Kiwanis.

Mr. Abramowitz, in reporting the accident to the police department, said that the girl ran diagonally across the intersection in front of his car. She was taken to a doctor's office for treatment.

Woman's Exchange Is Preparing for Holiday Season

One of Kingston's greatest philanthropic organizations, the Woman's Exchange, which helps approximately 80 women in the city, the county is bustling with preparations for Christmas and the holidays. For 27 years the Woman's Exchange has helped women to be self supporting by acting as an agency for their home cooked delicacies and fancy articles.

As the holiday season approaches many attractive articles have been brought by the women and are on display in the Exchange building on Fair street. Canapes and sandwiches, salted nuts, plum puddings and fruit cakes will be a help to the hostess who likes to serve particularly dainty refreshments for the holiday parties, orders for which will be taken at any time.

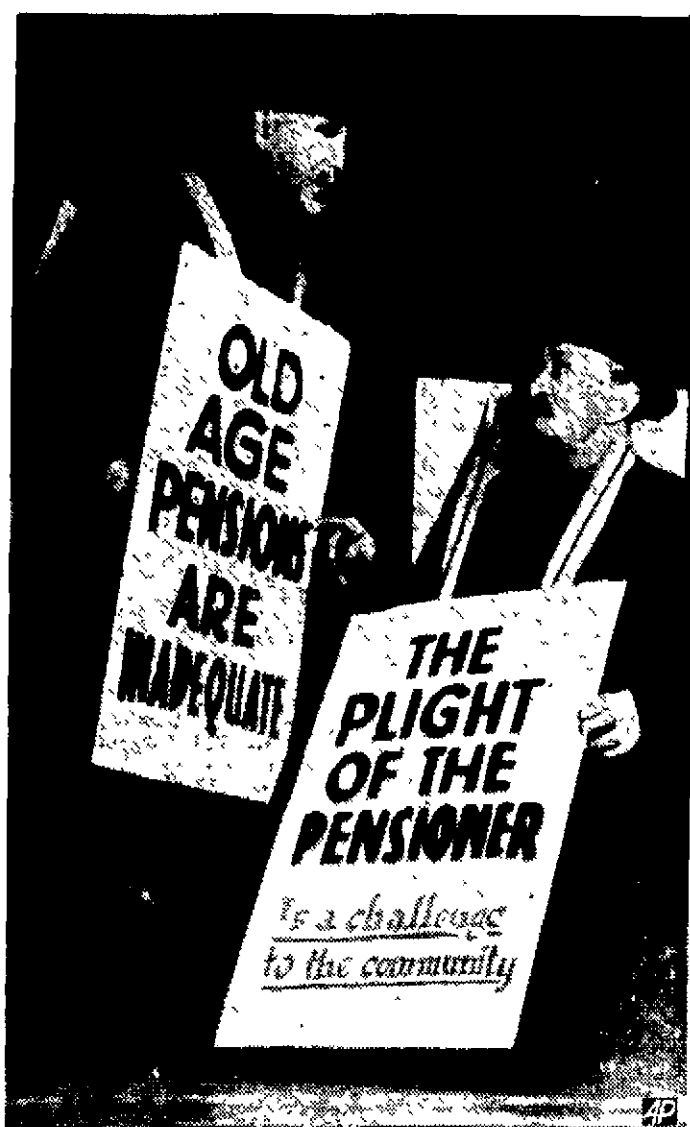

And for those last minute Christmas gifts there are hand-made handkerchiefs, hand woven bags, sachets, crocheted scarfs, luncheon sets, towels, hand knitted suits, sweaters, socks and mittens, hooked rugs and chair seats.

The Woman's Exchange building itself has also undergone a dressing up for the holidays. The old familiar gray frame building now has been changed so that it is a modern red brick structure. The little shop is ably presided over by Miss Ellen Noyes. The board of directors of the Woman's Exchange is made up of a group of socially prominent women of the city. These are Mrs. Alva Staples, president; Mrs. C. Victor Livingston, vice president; Mrs. Stanley Matthews, secretary; Mrs. Harold Baker, treasurer; Mrs. Edwin C. Fasse, Mrs. Ralph Gregory, Mrs. David Burgett, Mrs. A. H. Chambers, Mrs. Stephen D. Hildebrand, Mrs. C. O. Frome, Mrs. David Terry, Mrs. Jacob H. Triemper, Mrs. C. S. Treadwell and Miss Mary Treadwell.

Branded With Swastika

Los Angeles, Dec. 9 (AP)—Even grafted skin has failed to erase the Nazi swastika brand on his right arm, burned there while he was in a German concentration camp, Ronis Schlerman, 33, Jewish refugee, said here today. Schlerman said he was forced to leave Berlin University, where he was a professor of botany, sell his home, from which he eventually received $3, and ordered to leave the country. Unable to get out of Germany on this small amount, Schlerman related, he was sent to a concentration camp, where he and other Jews were offered water from officers' wash basins to drink and frequently were made to get down on their knees and lick up dirt.

"We're not a nuck-racking committee, and we've got a certain job to perform, but we have gone too far astray a lot of times," Dempsey said.

Among those mentioned as his possible successor was Dr. Ray Palmer Baker, of Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute at Troy, noted educator. Meantime W. Leland Thompson of Troy was reported slated to succeed himself on the state board of regents.

Further reports of gains in automobile sales and mail order business were the bright spots in yesterday's business news. Wheat futures showed a fractional gain and corn advanced as much as 1/4 of a cent a bushel. Illides eased, with closing quotations off 3/4 to 1/2 cents. Rubber prices eased with declines in the London market and closed 14 to 20 points lower. Cotton futures eased.

It was also stated that the RFC was considering substantial loans to two public utilities, under the administration's national defense plans for expanding electric power capacity. He declined to give the names of the companies or the amounts involved.

New York, Dec. 9 (AP)—Buying was selective in today's stock market and many issues were neglected as traders searched unsuccessfully for trend clues.

A few rails, steels, rubbers and specialties attracted mild support in dealings which were even slower than in yesterday's dragging proceedings. Transfers were at the rate of about 700,000 shares. Near the final hour minor price changes either way predominated.

Bonds and commodities shifted in varying directions. European securities markets inclined to give ground.

Favored the greater part of the time were Great Northern, Santa Fe, U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Goodyear, United Aircraft, North American Aviation, Chrysler, Anaconda, duPont, American Can and Pathe Film.

Backward were American Smelting, General Motors, U. S. Rubber, Schenley, J. C. Penney and Western Union.

A sharp jump in freight loads last week to nearly 29,000 cars above the comparable period last year was a bolstering factor for the carrier group.

On the side of the motors were estimates this week's output hit the 100,000 mark against 97,795 in the previous week and 85,763 a year ago. November sales of passenger cars and trucks in the United States and Canada were placed at 78 per cent over October.

Awarding of a large contract to North American Aviation for army observation airplanes encouraged holders of the stock.

A cut in lead prices and lower export copper rates helped to restrain metal shares.

Roosevelt Desires Money to Fight Espionage in U. S.

Washington, Dec. 9 (AP)—President Roosevelt said today that effective coordination had been obtained among the intelligence forces of the government. He emphasized, however, that he was going to ask for an additional appropriation to meet a situation that had been by no means ended by the recent spy trial in New York.

Washington, Dec. 9 (AP)—President Roosevelt disclosed today that he planned to send Congress another message recommending legislation empowering him to reorganize government agencies.

The President conferred with government reorganization experts yesterday. He said at his press conference today that the conference resulted in very good progress.

The legislation he will request will be broad in scope, he said, adding that he understood various members of Congress planned to introduce bills. The chief executive said he had no idea whether there would be fundamental changes in the new program as compared to that which passed the Senate in the last Congress but met defeat in the House.

Mr. Roosevelt said the point was a very simple one, that there is a need for improving the government. Congress, however, he went on, has as much information, dating back 40 years, as it will ever have on the reorganization question. Therefore, it is up to Congress to act to obtain a rearrangement of government agencies, the President declared.

Whether reorganization legislation will be embodied in one bill or in several is entirely up to Congress, he said.

Four Members at Bureau Banquet

development of the whole family that brought the Ulster County Home Bureau and the 4-H Club into existence here. We extend to you our hearty good wishes for the continuation of your excellent service.

Former Assemblyman Davis said that it was a happy occasion that marked this annual banquet for a quarter of a century ago the Farm Bureau came into existence and several years later the Home Bureau. He said he did not know when the happy union between the two organizations was effected but the outcome of that union was the birth of the 4-H Club which came into existence some nine years ago.

Mr. Davis said that to mark the anniversary some of the old timers were present and he would call upon them to make a few remarks of the old days.

James O. Winston, one of the first directors, said that it was 40 years ago when he made a speech and he had never made another and for that reason he was not going to break his record now.

Hepworth Recalls Old Days

Mr. Hepworth, also a member of the first board, said that he was proud of the fact that the idea of forming a farm bureau was fathered by him, but it was not the farmers but the city men of Kingston who got behind the idea first and brought the bureau into existence. Since its formation the bureau had grown steadily until today it was one of the vital forces of the community life in Ulster county.

Mr. Van Deusen, the first secretary, said that the toastmaster had said there were a few old timers present at the banquet and he said that to his mind an old timer was a man who recalled the good old days when a pound of beefsteak could be bought for 20 cents, but who forgot that he had to work a full hour before he earned the two dimes. He said that it was really an accident that he became secretary, although at the time he was doing farming on a small scale with half a dozen tomato plants and a flock of half a dozen chicks. He had gone to the meeting, he said, to cover it for The Freeman, and Judge Clearwater when the men at the meeting were looking for a secretary said "Want might as well have the job. He will attend the meetings anyway" the judge added.

History Given

David Burgevin, the first treasurer, gave a brief history of the organization of the farm bureau: "On December 12, 1913, a few men were called together to discuss the formation of the bureau at a meeting held at the court house. John E. Kraft, Herbert Carl, Sam Bernstein, J. A. Hepworth, Charles E. Davis, George House, John E. Bliss, H. L. Van Deusen and myself were there. "Mr. Kraft was chosen temporary chairman and H. L. Van Deusen, secretary. Mr. Kraft explained the object of the meeting and said the needs for a farm bureau in Ulster county was very much needed. In order to start a farm bureau in Ulster county it was necessary to raise $1,000. It was decided that the federal government would contribute $600 and the railroad would contribute $600. This amount was necessary to hire an agent or manager to direct the farmer in his work. "At this preliminary meeting a committee was named to draft a constitution and by-laws and also to select a slate of officers to be voted on. This meeting was held on December 19, 1913, at the court house when Judge A. T. Clearwater was elected president; Prof. John E. Bliss, of New Paltz, first vice president; A. P. Willow, of Highland, second vice president; James O. Winston, of Saugerties, third vice president; H. L. Van Deusen, of Kingston, secretary, and David Burgevin of Kingston, treasurer. All this was done without even a dollar in the treasury. "Also there was a large executive committee appointed of 13 members, but only three are alive today. "Judge Clearwater in accepting the presidency, said he was glad to be recognized as a farmer, because he grew 3/4 of an acre of hay a year on his farm, but he had to hire a man to cut the hay and pay another man to draw it away. The judge said he would do everything he could to make this bureau a success, which he did. "Herbert Carl and myself were appointed a committee to solicit the funds for the amount needed and after three days and considerable talk we succeeded in raising the amount, about $1,000. And with very little exception we raised this money in the city. The next year we were to raise this money to keep the bureau active by asking all farmers in the county to join at a membership fee of $1 a year, but we did not get enough money to pay the manager so we went to the supervisors for help and asked them for $1,000.

WIVES CAUSE BIGAMIST'S ARREST

To show there is no ill-feeling between them, the two wives of William Coburn shook hands and smiled broadly at a court hearing in Philadelphia. The former Beverly Fisher (left), wife No. 2, and Mrs. Coburn No. 1, who was Anna Tait, before her marriage, caused the arrest of Coburn on a bigamy charge, then both took him cigarettes in his cell.

"What," Phil said, stroking his whiskers, "is this going to be another charge on the county?" Well we got it. Mention a few of the men to whom credit is due in making the Farm Bureau a great success. They are: Judge Clearwater, J. A. Hepworth, John E. Kraft, Herbert Carl, Abe Janssen, C. E. Davis, James O. Winston, Chet Young, Phil DuBois, Millard Davis, Chester C. DuMont and your excellent manager, Al Kurdt.

Today's Membership

Chairman DuMont was called upon to report on the membership of the Ulster County Farm Bureau today. He said there were now 641 paid up members and before the close of the year it was expected to have at least 50 more members. This was approximately 40 more members than in 1937. Pratt Boico reporting for the 4-H Club said that there were 108 more members than there were a year ago.

chairman of the Home Bureau, said that there were now 337 members. The prize awards for largest membership goes to Moadaw; for percentage of renewals to Forest Glen; for largest number of new members to Woodstock. The award in each case, she said, is a lesson to be given the unit on any subject of their choice, the teaching to be done by someone recognized as an authority in his or her field.

Sickles Entertainers

The remainder of the meeting was turned over to the entertainment program which was opened by Sickles Entertainers of Saugerties in songs and instrumental music, and was followed by the presentation of the one-act play, "Flittermouse," by members of the 4-H Club of the Rock School in Rifton. Those who took part in the play were LeRoy Davis, Sophia Polcowitz, Audrey Kidd and Augustine Favier. Mrs. Anna Devine, leader of the 4-H Club of the Rock School, directed the play, which was excellently given and heartily applauded. This play was the best play in the eastern elimination county contest and was selected to go to Ithaca, where it was presented before some 1,500 4-H Club members of the state. The play was presented with a blue ribbon at Ithaca.

Wholesale buying was also brisk, but orders ran under last year by a margin of two to 12 per cent. Apparel, house furnishings, and electrical appliance departments showed some of the best results, and in the majority of stores the trend was definitely to practical gifts, the credit agency said.

Pajama Boys Lead All the Way to End In Close Struggle

Boston Cleaners Beat Forsts, 19-17, and JYA Scores Over Kalamazoo Quintet by 18 to 15

Baltzs upset the league-leading Barmann outfit in a savagely contested National League brawl by a 32-28 count in last night's City League all-star cage attraction. The pajama boys outgunned the Brewers in a fiercely fought drubbing, culminated by numerous personal squabbles, to go into first place in the hectic senior loop pennant scramble. Paced by the sensational sharpshooting of Herbie Clarke and Goggy Boyce, the Baltz array outlasted the larger kings. Clarke with four sparkling deuces and two free ones, accounted for 10 markers while Boyce came through with eight tallies.

Baltz led 5-1 at the quarter and 15-12 at halftime and kept ahead in the frantic third quarter mulling to lead 29-19. Barmanns made a desperate effort to overtake the pajama crew who drew away to a six point edge midway in the last frame but fell short in the closing stages. Chipe Rhymer corralled 10 points and five pushups, while Zeeh accounted for seven markers. Al Bruce paced the Baltz floor play with a slashing all-around performance. Savage action predominated all the way and Referee Toffel was hard pressed to keep up with the battling opponents.

Boston Wins Overtime

Boston Cleaners capped a thrilling overtime duel from Forsts by a 19-17 count in a ding-dong cage episode. Forst led 9-6 at the half but the Cleaners picked up a 14-13 nod and rallied to knot the count at 17-17 in the final minute. Every missed a foul with 35 seconds to go and the teams went into overtime for the season's first extra-period fray. Kenny Menzel's trio of deuces kept the butchers in the fight all the way while Markers and O'Hara starred for the Cleaners. With the overtime frame waning away, O'Hara followed up a rebound to give the Cleaners the nod.

JYA's fighting squad upset the Kalamazoo in another cage scorching, winning by an 18-15 margin to wind up a top-notch card. Tied 6-6 at halftime, the downtowners held a 12-8 at the three-quarter mark as Kline unlimbered three neat fields. The oil-burners spurred near the close but JYA had enough in reserve to come out on top. Kline and Bub Van Buren tied for high scoring honors with 6 markers each.

Baseball Is on Paying Basis

New Orleans, La., Dec. 9 (AP)—William G. Bramham, 65-year-old president of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues today declared his baseball house to be in order.

Here for the annual meeting of the association which ends this afternoon, he said in an interview, the cash registers are working, club owners are behaving, players are protected, and baseball is on a business basis.

L. H. Addington, publicity man, said the depression set the minor leagues back on their heels. In one year during the dark days, he said, about 20 leagues started the season and six dropped out by the 4th of July.

But in 1938 there were 15,500,000 paid admissions to minor league games, said Bramham, a jump of two million over the previous years, and about five million more than the major leagues accounted for.

The association yesterday approved an amendment submitted by the International League increasing the number of optional players that Class AAA clubs may have on option from 10 to 12.

The delegates voted to permit minor leagues to award championship honors to winners of post-season playoffs.

When the baseball men gathered earlier this week for the annual convention of the National Association of Baseball Leagues, things looked rosy for big league swapping.

But today, with only a few concluding remarks needed to end the convention, the deal which manager Bill Terry of the New York Yankees and Manager Gabby Hartnett of the Chicago Cubs organized headed the list.

Terry traded Outfielder Hank Lieber, Catcher Gus Mancuso and Shortstop Dick Bartell to Hartnett for Shortstop Billy Jurges, Catcher Ken O'Dea and Outfielder Frank Demaree.

The St. Louis Cardinals received interest temporarily by selling Pitcher Ray Harrell to the Cubs and exchanging Outfielder Frenchy Bordagaray for Outfielder Dusty Cooke of the Cincinnati Reds, but that was about all.

Carliss Quintet To Play Rosendale

In their regular weekly home game at Firemen's Hall, Rosendale, the five laddies from the cement town will have as their opponents the highly touted Carliss A. C. Quintet of Poughkeepsie. Fresh from their 24-20 victory over the White Eagles on Monday night, the Carliss boys are expected to chalk up their second win of the season.

The Poughkeepsie team has on its roster some of the best players from that city and promises to give the local boys plenty of opposition. Rosendale will have its regular line-up of Gil Kelder, Dave and Hoke Rask, Tony DeBrosky, Beans Baltz and Jerry Dann.

There will be a preliminary at 8 o'clock between the Rosendale Juniors and the Carliss A. C. Juniors. The main contest is slated for 9 o'clock. Dancing will follow the games, with music furnished by the Cottelkik Ginger Snaps.

Teams desiring games with the Firemen should get in touch with Manager Bill Kopp, Rosendale.

Last Big Shot for Gunnar Barlund

New York, Dec. 9 (AP)—Gunnar Barlund, the much enduring Finn, will get what may be his last shot at the boxing big time against Roscoe Toles, the big Detroit negro, in the hippodrome tonight.

The Gunnar, after beating Buddy Baer and Albert Lovell, was on the way up until Lou Nova stopped him a couple of months ago. Now he must beat Toles in tonight's ten-rounder to hold his place as a ranking heavy.

Another Chance For Estallela

Washington, Dec. 8 (AP)—Clark Griffith, president of the Washington Senators, is going to undertake another Cuban experiment. This one is a bottle-bodied little fellow named Roberto Estallela, who can whale the seams off a baseball but who has been having great trouble fielding it.

Griffith had him before, and he's going to give him another chance with the Nats.

Boy, Stabbed, Lives Today

Philadelphia, Dec. 9 (AP)—A 14-year-old boy, stabbed accidentally in a tussle with a chum, lived today with three stitches in his heart. Dr. Bruce Fleming, chief surgeon of Roxborough Memorial Hospital, performed the delicate operation an hour and a half after the mishap. He shipped away some of the rib bone and found what had kept the boy, Adam Etnow, alive. A pericardial sac enclosing the heart was filled with about a pint of blood from the wounded auricle wall. Leaking slowly from the sac, the blood exerted a back pressure on the auricle wall, reducing hemorrhage.
